Spring Festival Set For May 18

Big Show Promised Without Parade

With the month of May finally here, the Daly City recreation department is turning its attention to May poles and the big Spring Festival—especially the latter. This year the fifth annual Spring Festival will be held at the Jefferson Union high school football field at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, May 18.

Officials of the department have promised a gala show, even though the parade up Market street must be eliminated. The freshly treated track at the high school will not bear the weight of the many floats that normally participate. Therefore, the trustees denied a request to use the school grounds for the terminus of the parade, and the whole thing was cancelled.

The young lady who will reign supreme for that day will Judith Logan, of the Garden Village School. Her attendants will be Gail Smith, of General Pershing; Carolyn Smyser, of OLPH; Sandra Calovano, of Woodrow Wilson; Alexis Malone, of Westlake; Sandra Picardo, of Jefferson; and Lucille Whitney, of Thornton.

The young queen was elected after elimination contests in various schools, and by ballots for the final selection.

Preparation for the queen and her attendants are being made by the queen committee, headed by Mrs. Clydean Carruthers. She is assisted by Mrs. Howard Dunbar, Mrs. Stanford Vickers, Mrs. Gertrude Green, Mrs. Prisco, Mrs. Ruth Cresta and Mrs. O. Simonsen. At the present time these ladies are working on the attire of the queen and her attendants.

Dancing will be one of the main attractions at the festival, and the following dance studios will display the young hopefuls: Bunnie Carrol Dancing Studio, Leota's Dance Studio, Carol Rae Studio Dance and Lure, Andre's Dancing Dolls. The Recreation's Children Folk Dancing class also will perform, as the Daly City Band furnishes the music.

Singing will be supplied by a group from Jefferson Union high, the Spanish club from Jefferson high, and a group from the Jefferson elementary schools.

Because of the necessity of eliminating the parade this year a varied field program will be in effect. The PTA's under Mrs. Ann Eason and Mrs. Prisco will offer entertainment and refreshments. The Maypoles wil lbe freshly decorated, and Mayor Paul Green will crown the little queen.

All residents of the area are invited to attend the gala festival.

Brunswick Street Extension Work To Start Again

Court Of Appeals Rules In City's Favor

Work will begin within the next 10 days on completion of the extension of Brunswick street from Wellington avenue to Hillside boulevard, Frank Blum, city attorney, said today.

The job has been held up for the past three months pending outcome of an injunction against the city.

H. H. Smith, former mayor of Daly City and owner of the property involved, was granted the injunction when blasting and work on the street threatened his land on either side of the job.

Last week the superior court agreed to grant the city a reverse condemnation, allowing them to continue work. At a council meeting Monday evening Blum was given the authority to start proceedings to condemn "slope rights," or approximately 4,400 square feet on either side of the extension.

An appraiser has yet to determine for the city what sum will be paid for this additional property.

Meanwhile, this Monday the court of appeals upheld an earlier decision by the county superior court that the city must pay Smith $4,465 for land condemned for the original extension of Brunswick street through his quarry property. Smith's attorney, Gardiner Johnson, is expected to put in a petition for rehearing, and possibly carry the case to the state supreme court.

Smith has requested $194,000 for damages and actual property value. He asserts the street has ruined his chances for construction of a motel on the corner of Mission street and Hillside boulevard.

Markovich Urges Tax Rate Support

To The Voters:

A YES vote on May 16 is essential to maintain the present tax rate limit of the Jefferson Union High School District.

Our school costs have been held down as much as possible, consistent with a policy of decent wages and a good school program.

We are facing a period of rapid growth. The enrollment will double within ten years. This means more buildings to operate and maintain, more supplies to provide, more teachers and other employees. We can not avoid the issue, more money will be needed. We hope the assessed valuation increase will approximate the growing enrollment.

Please be assured that we board members, as taxpayers, will continue to be economical. Jefferson Union high school has an enviable reputation. We who are graduates of "Jeff" have a keen interest in the school's welfare and in that of present and future students.

Remember, a YES vote merely continues the present tax rate limit of one dollar and thirty-five cents per hundred dollars of as-

Post Office Change

Over 1,000 Residents Sign Petition Calling For Local Independent Office

More than 1,000 local residents have to date signed a petition requesting a Daly City post office, independent of San Francisco, Michael DeBernardi reported today.

DeBernardi began circulating the petition shortly after it was learned that the Colma post office facilities were to be changed. He, and many others, assert taking the carriers away from the Colma office will curtail service. John Fixa, San Francisco postmaster, has denied this assertion.

Under the present organization, the Daly City and Colma post offices are but branches of San Francisco's system. Signers of the petition feel Daly City would be better off with an independent post office. They assert the advantage would include a Daly City cancellation and better service.

Explaining the position of the petitioners, DeBernardi today released the following prepared statement:

"I wish to take this opportunity to thank all of you who have signed the petition requesting transfer of the Daly City post office from the jurisdiction of the San Francisco office.

"It is the opinion of all who have studied the matter that the service and facilities of the post office serving the Daly City and Colma areas have not been appreciably

Broadmoor Assn. Election Set May 9

Joseph Belli, Jr., market manager and civic leader, was the latest today to enter his name in the race for one of six places on the Broadmoor Property Owners Board of Directors.

Election of officers will be held Friday, May 9 at a special meeting of the group at the Broadmoor Community Center, 714 White street, at 8 p.m.

While nominations may be filed before the election, other names may be accepted from the floor at the meeting, J. Walter Thomas, president, said today.

There are six members to be elected. However, only three of the incumbents, George Alexander, James McKay and Vincent Cauchi

Joe Verducci Now Coaching The City's Government "Team"

When a man reaches the ripe old age of 42, he can be excused if the energy of his youth begins to show the effects of time.

Not so Mr. Joseph Verducci, a brand new member of the Daly City council. Far from content with the dual duties of athletic director and football coach of San Francisco State college, Verducci saw fit to try his hand at municipal politics.

As a result, Coach Verducci now worries about giving S. F. State the best football team for its money, and Councilman Verducci worries about giving Daly City the best government for its dough.

Coach Verducci is a confident and optimistic man ("We're going to give this school the best team its ever had," he says). Councilman Verducci is slightly less cheerful ("It's a lot of work," says he. "Really very interesting, but an awful lot of it is routine.")

Verducci entered the recent council contest with a two-plank platform, promising his support to increased recreation and transportation facilities.

Either this, or the impression of confidence and enthusiasm he gives, or his reputation as a football coach—or possibly all three—had quite an effect on the voters.

This was established when the final returns came in, showing that Verducci had won his chair at the council table with 1531 votes—the largest number given any candidate. Westlake, where Verducci lives, gave him the most votes garnered by any candidate at any precinct.

Born in 1910, the councilman-coach, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Verducci, 3262 San Jose avenue. He moved to Daly City with his parents at an early age and attended Crocker Tract grammar

Westlake Residents On Way To Getting Local Well Water

Council Calls For Bids On Reduction Valve

Another try at supplying local water to Westlake was undertaken Monday night when the city council called for bids for a water reduction valve for Westlake.

At the regular council meeting, well attended by some 30 residents, the council set May 12 as the date for opening the bids. Estimated cost of the valve is about $3,000.

Several weeks ago bids on a modified version of the water valve were rejected when the council decided to put the valve below ground. Earlier specifications had called for such a valve above ground, but these were junked when it was discovered such a piece of machinery would prove an eyesore.

The valve is needed to cut down the pressure from the Junipero Serra water well. Presently Westlake residents are getting their water from San Francisco. According to Councilman James Kennedy the average $2,000 a month bill for this service is so prorated that residents pay the same rate as for local water with Henry Doelger putting up the difference.

"Consequently, it is misleading to say that the necessity of using San Francisco water is costing local taxpayers any more," Kennedy said. "Mr. Doelger is footing the extra costs."

Other business before the council Monday night included:

Mayor J. Paul Green named Councilmen A. J. Gaggero and Edward J. Dennis to a finance committee; James H. Kennedy and Gaggero to the utilities committee; Joe Verducci and Dennis to the transportation committee; and Dennis and Kennedy to the administration committee. Green will serve ex-officio on all committees.

Burglar Vanishes Thru Rear Window

George Cademortori, 19 East Moltke street, Daly City, walked into his home Tuesday afternoon, heard a suspicious noise and yelled to find out who was there.

When Cademortori yelled, the person wandering around upstairs became highly agitated and decided to leave via the back window for parts unknown.

The intruder was very unwelcome, as far as Cademortori was concerned, for when he left he took with him about $150 in cash which he had found in the house.

A next door neighbor got a fairly good look at the man as he was rapidly departing from the Cademortori home, and was able to give police a description.

To date the local officers have not captured the burglar, but are still investigating the case.

No Fires Here Today, Just Air Raid Alert

There were no fires in Daly City today, May 1. Those blasts from the air horn this morning were part of another scheduled civil defense testing pattern.

All equipment throughout San Mateo county was tested during the morning hours. The yellow alert was sounded here at 9:30 a.m., the red alert at 10:15 and the all clear at 10:30.

According to Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy the test alert was scheduled on the latest directive, now shelved. A new set of orders for practice alerts is expected to be received shortly.

Sunderland Quits Fight For Chief's Job

Former Chief of Police W. W. Sunderland has been subpoened to appear before the State crime commission's secret hearing in San Francisco today, May 1.

THE RECORD learned today he will be questioned as to what extent gambling and bookie operations have infiltrated city government and the local police department, if any.

Sunderland's testimony follows by two days his decision to give up the fight to regain his job as chief of police.

He told THE RECORD today that he has filed for his retirement pay, and will make no further effort to get back the position he still believes he was forced out of by the city council.

At today's hearing Sunderland will be asked:

1. Is it true that at one time over 50 bookies joints were operating out of Daly City? (This is the claim of A. L. Lamport, special investigator for District Attorney Louis Dematteis.)

2. How was it possible for so many gambling concerns to operate in Daly City?

3. Did these gambling activities have any protection or assurance of safety from the city government or police?

4. Were any city officials aware of the extent of these operations?

5. Did the recent slaying of Tom Keen, tote board operator, have any tie-in with local gambling activities?

6. Has the inauguration of the Federal gambling tax decreased the number of bookies in Daly City?

Answers to these questions may never be made public as the hearings to date have been top secret.

Sunderland went on sick leave August 27, 1951, and on April 1 of this year made a vain effort to regain his job. The council ruled he had also applied for retirement when he put in for his leave, and refused to accept him as chief.

The former chief left the department, following a series of bookie raids here by Dematteis and his staff. One of the convicted Daly City bookies, Danny Capece, 25, appeared before the crime commission Monday. Capece and Danny Leffler, 48, operated a $15,000 a day lay-off bookie business in a Daly City home.

Capece's testimony has not been released by the commission. However, it has been speculated that he had much to say on the same questions being asked Sunderland today.

In making his fight for reinstatement in the police department, Sunderland at one time had threatened to take his case to the superior court. He had hinted at implicating several other local citizens. Whether or not he will make these implications clear at today's hearing remains to be seen.

Also playing a prominent roll in the hearings is Dematteis. THE RECORD learned that he has been assisting the state crime busters by framing and asking many of the aforesaid questions himself.

Dematteis has been quiet as to the results of the hearing, although early this week he said: "We expect to go into things that will be of much interest to the people of this area."

Mrs. Cheatham Calls For Support

Outlines Qualifications For School Board

In a prepared statement concerning her candidacy for re-election May 16, to the Jefferson elementary schol board of trustees, Mrs. Helen Cheatham today said:

"Once again it is time for thoughtful voters to decide on a representative to aid in the management of their public schools. Everyone is interested in obtaining the best in educational standards and facilities for the youth of the community and the nation.

"I think it would be repetitive for me to set forth my ideas on improved education in this district at this time. I have worked seriously and actively the past three years to attain high standards and improved conditions along with thoughtful consideration of the taxpayers dollar. . .

Ninety-five New Street Lights For Crocker Tract

Ninety-five new street lights will go up in the Crocker Tract area in the near future as the opening move in a plan to increase lighting facilities throughout Daly City, Mayor Paul Green told THE RECORD yesterday.

The new lamps will be installed in the area east of Mission street and north of Wellington avenue, but including Wellington avenue.

New lights—of 6000 lumen power—will also go up on Junipero Serra boulevard, Knowles avenue, Westlake avenue and School street. Later, said Green, other areas of the city will be supplied on a step by step basis.

"An increase in automobile and pedestrian night traffic requires improved lighting in Daly City," he said. "It should act to discourage petty crimes such as purse-snatching, too."

The project will cost Daly City taxpayers an estimated $3,600 per year. Tentative date of completion is June, 1953.

Green announced that city officials have planned new lighting facilities for some time, but that only recently has the Pacific Gas and Electric company been able to obtain the necessary equipment.

Youngster Injured As He Falls From Hobby Horse

Three-year-old Ross Hilton, 704 Maddux drive, Colma, was treated at Junipero Serra hospital on Wednesday for concussion and possible skull fracture after falling from a hobby horse.

Young Hilton was riding one of the mechanical type hobby horses, coin operated, at King's Market in Daly City, when he fell.

school. He spent his later teens at Mission high school and went on to the University of California, where he played football for four years. The climax of his grid career came in his senior year, when he quarterbacked the Bears in their traditional Big Game with Stanford.

Verducci coached in San Francisco from 1935 to 1947, with the exception of the war years, and took his present position after two years at St. Mary's.

He now resides at 118 Wilshire, in Westlake, with his wife, Florence, and his three children: Florence Joan, 12 years old; Diana Marlyn, 10; and Jerold Joseph, 2.

At the present moment, Verducci's proudest possession is the result of an interview published in the San Francisco Chronicle, in which he set forth a few opinions on government in a democracy, a citizen's duties thereto.

The interview brought Verducci a letter from Richard Graves, executive director of the League of California Cities, a large and influential organization to which most California cities belong.

Graves explained that he was "impressed by your (Verducci's) grasp of the nature of politics and the problem of citizen interest in self-government. Some of the councilmen who have served for many years understand these things, but few of them even see them so clearly as the brand new councilman from Daly City.

"We look forward to your work in Daly City with a great deal of interest and hope that time will permit you to take an active part in the affairs of the League."

Which made Verducci rather happy, seeing as how he's still a freshman on this team.

increased in recent years. This, despite the fact that at the same time most other postal services and facilities in the Eighth Congressional district have been adequately expanded, including South San Francisco, San Bruno, Burlingame, San Mateo and Redwood City.

(Ed Note: However, it must be noted that in the past year Daly City has been given a larger, modern post office building at Bepler and Mission Circle.)

"If certain proposed changes are put into effect, we shall be deprived of some services we now have.

"Furthermore, the lack of Daly City cancellation is confusing, and the citizens and businesses do not receive the advertising which is rightfully theirs.

"If our petition is successful, we will be in a better position to seek adjustment of our grievances through our own congressional representatives. As our service now stands, we must go to San Francisco with our troubles. And as we do not vote for congressmen in the San Francisco area, we are forgotten.

"I do not like the idea of our post office being a substation to San Francisco. Other peninsula cities, smaller than Daly City have independent post offices. Why can't we have our own office?

"I urge all those citizens who have not yet signed the petition to do so at their earliest convenience. If you have not been contacted, please call me at PLaza 5-2668."

Outside of the incumbents and Belli seeking election. William O'Neil and Mrs. Ann Read have filed. Mrs. Read is the only woman running for a place on the board, and if elected will be the first woman to serve in this position in two years.

Belli is a veteran of World War II and presently vice-president of the Lions Club. He has been active in civic affairs here, and shown some interest in sports. He is 33-years-old and resides at 1547 Sweetwood avenue with his wife.

Woman Is Injured By Runaway Auto

Mrs. August A. Johnson, 35, who lives at the Mission Bell Motel in Daly City, was injured Monday evening while trying to stop her husband's runaway car, according to police reports.

Mrs. Johnson was in the back seat of the car with her one-month-old baby when her husband parked the vehicle and got out. The car started to roll back down the drive, and Mrs. Johnson tried to get out of the back seat and into the front, to stop the car.

However, she slipped and fell, hitting her head. The car finally stopped as it struck a cabin. The baby was not injured.

Mrs. Johnson was treated at Junipero Serra hospital for a head injury.

The council, upon recommendation of Police Chief Roland Petrocchi, gave permanent appointments to rookie policemen John Coelmana and Bert Conci.

Councilman Gaggero was appointed to the north county sanitation board to fill the seat vacated by former Councilman Fred Bertetta.

A. J. Bodien, superintendent of the water department, in a report to the council on a recent convention, recommended a complete analysis by chemists of water before any action is taken on possible request for fluoridation of the water system here.

The council, as is the custom annually, decided to donate $50 to the American Cancer Society.

A claim by Mrs. Bernice E. De Pui for $250 for injuries received when she slipped and fell at San Jose avenue and Mission was denied by the council.

Other routine business matters were handled during the short session before adjournment.

It is evident to the detail investigator through examination of board minutes, and to casual observer by summing up the obvious improvements in the last three years.

"I have become a candidate for re-election, first, because of my sincerest beliefs in the responsibilities of our public educational system to our children, and secondly through the requests of interested parents in the district who share my beliefs and feel that I have not deviated from my original thinking on what a good school district should be.

Theatre Workers Back McKinnon

William P. Sutherland, secretary-treasurer of the California State Theatrical Federation, announced today that his organization, an AFL affiliate, will support Congressman Clinton D. McKinnon for U. S. Senator from California.

The Federation represents some 80,000 union members in the theatrical and amusements crafts in the state.

Sutherland, of 230 Jones St., San Francisco, said that his Federation's executive council unanimously agreed to "indorse and work in the best interests of Clinton D. McKinnon for United States Senator."

The Theatrical Federation's formal action was in line with Labor's acclaim of McKinnon for the Senate Sutherland said:

"Thinking voters have studied Clint McKinnon's record in the House of Representatives. We like the work he has done for his own Congressional District and believe he'll do even greater work for the state as a whole.

"California needs a Senator who will work for our people—not only Labor groups, but the rank and file of our citizens. We firmly believe that Clint McKinnon is that man. His policies are constructive, his byword is action.

"We're all out for McKinnon as Senator."

County Fiesta Theme To Be "World Gardens"

Schedules for the amateur division of the 18th anual San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta are now available.

This year's theme is "Flowers and Gardens of the World." They were presented April 29 at a luncheon at Villa Chartier, hostessed by Mrs. Robert Kahn, general chairman o fthe amateur division.

EGG STEALER ISN'T HAPPY ABOUT TRAP

The Epidendios, who live on Thiers street in Daly City, have been unhappy lately about the midnight raids on the family chicken house. Eggs were disappearing with alarming regularity.

Suspecting a prowling animal of some kind, they set a trap to see what they could catch.

Early Wednesday morning the police received a somewhat frantic call from Mrs. Epidendio, who wanted the pound master, immediately if not sooner.

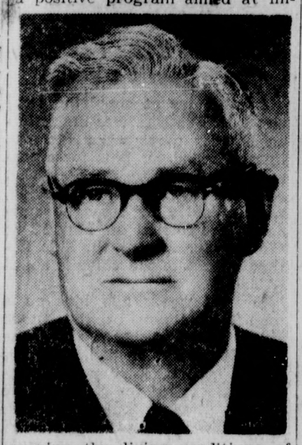
Seems a skunk had been the guilty thief, and not taking kindly to being trapped, was raising quite a stink about the whole thing. The heroic poundmaster handled the situation, with a clothespin firmly clamped on his nose.

Civic Leaders Endorse Callan

Mayor Herschel Campbell of San Mateo today gave his unqalified support to the candidacy of Thomas Callan for the county board of supervisors.

Joining scores of other civic leaders, Mayor Campbell said he was supporting Callan because he believed him eminently qualified to serve the interests of the general public.

"As a leader in county affairs, Callan has demonstrated time and time again that he is a man with a positive program aimed at improving the living conditions of county residents," Mayor Campbellsaid.



"His recently announced platform, which includes plans for highways, recreation and educational developments, indicates to me he is the man we need on the board of supervisors."

Meanwhile, Callan announced this week that committees made up of leaders in every city and community in the county are now organizing to support his candidacy. Names of chairmen and committeemen will be announced later, Callan said.

County Teacher Shortage Possible

Possibility of a shortage of regularly certificated teachers in San Mateo county in the near future was pointed out today by Victor G. Binsacca, president of the San Mateo County Teachers Association, following a review of a recent tax committee report made public by James R. Tormey, county superintendent of schools.

"Unless new, thoroughly trained teachers are attracted to San Mateo County to care for thousands of new students, our children are faced with the possibility of being short-changed on their education," Binsacca stated. Our present county school population of 44,000 is expected to grow to 112,000—more than double—in less than ten years. This tremendous increase takes into consideration only expected county growth, and does not include probable immigration from other sections; nor does it include students beyond the twelfth grade."

"As parents and teachers, we feel it is our responsibility to point out to every resident of the county the need for more qualified teachers and new buildings programs," Binsacca added.

To meet state teacher needs for 1956, it is estimated one out of every seven 1952 high school graduates must enter the teaching profession, county association facts show. Unless new teachers are attracted to the field, California will be short 22,500 teachers by 1956, according to figures from the office of the state director of education. The greatest shortage will exist in elementary grades. By September of this year, 17,508 teachers will be needed with 1,500 need for first grades alone. Only 9667 are scheduled to graduate from California's teacher training institutes.

HUB CAPS STOLEN

William F. Harper, 181 Park Plaza drive, reported to police this week that four hub caps and two fender skirts had been taken from his car. Police are investigating the theft.

HINTS FOR HOMEMAKERS

IF YOU WANT TASTY VEAL FOR DINNER, COOK IT SLOWLY—AND ON A LOW HEAT

by the General Electric Consumers Institute

When you're planning the meat in your menus from now on through the spring, don't overlook the versatility of veal.

Veal, which is young beef, is one of the more tender meats, with very little fat; it requires long, slow cooking at a low temperature to the well-done stage. Veal can be roasted, braised or cooked in water as veal stew; it should not be broiled, panbroiled or seared quickly.

Here are three General Electric Consumers Institute recipes for veal entrees, using three different cuts of veal—steak, cutlets and veal shoulder.

Veal Cutlet Supreme

Tested in the G-E Consumers Institute

- 1 pound veal steak (½-⅝ inch thick)
- Sifted bread crumbs (about 1 cup)
- 1 egg, beaten with 1 tablespoon water
- ¼ cup shortening
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup sour cream

Cut veal into 6 pieces for serving. Dip in crumbs, then in beaten egg and again in crumbs. Melt shortening in large skillet on a high heat. Cook onions in skillet until yellow, stirring occasionally; remove from skillet. Place veal in skillet and brown on both sides. Place veal and onion in greased 2-quart casserole. Combine paprika, salt, pepper and sour cream. Pour over veal. Cover tightly. Bake in oven 325°F. for 1½ hours. Makes 6 servings.

Veal Scallopini

Tested in the G-E Consumers Institute

- 1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon thyme
- 1 8-ounce can prepared tomato sauce (about ⅞ cup)
- 4 frozen veal cutlets, ¼-inch thick (1 package)
- 1 small green pepper, cut in strips
- 2 medium onions, sliced
- 1 4-ounce can sliced mushrooms (packed in about ⅓ cup liquor)

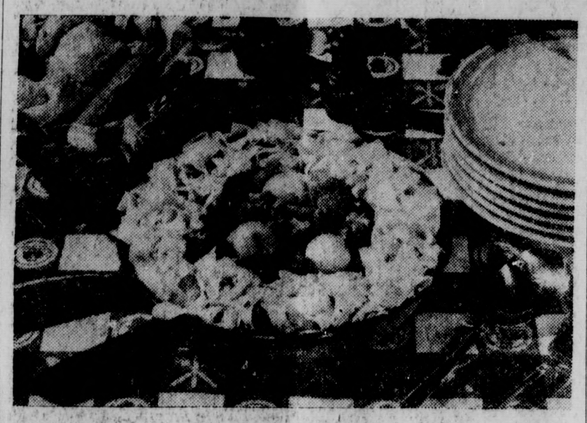
Combine flour, salt and thyme. Add tomato sauce gradually, stirring until smooth. Heat large skillet on a high heat. Unwrap and separate frozen veal cutlets. Place across bottom of skillet. Add onions, green pepper, tomato sauce mixture and mushrooms with liquor. Cover and cook on a high heat until steaming. Switch to a low heat and cook 25 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Veal and Noodles

Tested in the G-E Consumers Institute

- 1 pound veal shoulder (excluding bone)
- ¼ cup shortening
- 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 3 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 teaspoons paprika
- 9 cups water
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2 cups peeled small onions
- 1 cup ¼-inch slices carrots
- ½ cup diced celery
- 10 ounces medium noodles (about 2-2½ cups)
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 green peppers

Cut veal in 1-inch cubes. Melt shortening in large skillet on high heat. Add meat and saute until lightly browned. Combine flour, 2 teaspoons salt, pepper and paprika, sprinkle over meat and stir until blended. Add 1 cup water, Worcestershire sauce, onions, carrots and celery. Cover and when steaming, switch to low heat. Cook 25 minutes. After meat mixture has cooked 15 minutes, place 2 quarts water and 1 teaspoon salt in 3-quart saucepan. Bring to boil on high heat. Add noodles gradually to keep water boiling. Switch to medium heat and boil 10-12 minutes. Drain noodles, add butter and let melt. Toss noodles lightly to mix with butter. Remove core and cut green peppers in ½-inch strips. Add to meat mixture in skillet. Cover and cook 5-10 minutes longer until green peppers are tender. Serve meat mixture over buttered noodles. Makes 6 servings.



Veal shoulder, cut in cubes, forms the basis for this attractive all-in-one-dish meal, which combines the meat with noodles, onions, carrots, celery, peppers and seasoning to make a tasty entree.

The United States Army established a post at Benicia on April 30, 1849.

The State Legislature chartered the University of California, March 23, 1868.

Guidance Clinic Is Subject Of Meeting

San Mateo county high representatives attended a meeting, April 25, held at the Child Guidance Clinic by Dr. S. L. Sheimo, psychiatrist, clinical director. The purpose of this meeting was to discuss the clinic's program and functions and how best they can serve the schools.

On May 12, the Child Guidance and Consultation Service of San Mateo county will raise its age level from 14 to 18, at which time the clinic is offering psychiatric service to the adolescents and their parents. It is the first time in the history of the county such service has been available. The need has been expressed by all welfare and school departments for many years.

Representatives from the following schools attended the meeting: Capuchino high school—Miss Janice Robison, dean of girls, Paul V. Claudon, dean of boys. South San Francisco Unified School District—James C. Cherry, Supt. Jefferson Union High School, John Mongan, vice-principal, Glen E. South, dean of boys and Miss M. Helen Dobbie, dean of girls. Sequoia Union High School, Miss Doris Dean, vice-principal and dean of girls, Ivan Griffin, director of guidance, John C. Roberts, director of child welfare and attendance. Menlo-Atherton High School, Miss Eleanor W. Kellum, dean of girls, Burlingame High School, Victor A. Mangini, dean of boys, Miss Judith E. Campbell, dean of girls. IRRIGATION FOR WILD OATS

Drive Underway To Check County Tax Bill

Are you interested in saving yourself what may be hundreds of extra tax dollars?

The answer to that should be obvious. Consequently, we call to your attention a drive now underway in the county to keep county taxes from being increased. The success or failure of this drive may mean a moderate or greatly expanded tax bill for you next year.

Recently the county upped the assessment value of your home and property a flat 50 per cent. Under this arrangement, taxes will automatically be jumped unless the tax rate is decreased proportionately.

We are happy to see that a group, called the San Mateo County Property Owners Association, is now spearheading this drive to keep the tax bill down. As we understand it, this organization is made up of property owners who feel they have more of an interest in land than a convenient source of income for the county. If this is the aim of the group, it should have the wholehearted sympathy and support of every taxpayer in Daly City.

With the upped assessments the county has a neat way of bringing in 50 per cent more revenue without raising the tax rate. This looks jolly in print, but painful on your tax bill.

We recommend that you and your neighbors, your organizations and anyone else you can enlist, take immediate steps to join this drive to halt any prospective tax boost.

This can be done by contacting the Property Owners Association at 531 Placitas avenue, Atherton.

Contact them today. It probably will mean countless savings to you and your family tomorrow.

Let's Have Center Election June 3

Now that the Community Center building may be temporarily utilized for classrooms, we are certain voters will see their way clear to passing a second bond issue to complete the structure.

The try at passing such an issue last year fell flat on its face. This was due to many things, the least of which was the feeling on many peoples' part that the building just wasn't worth any more money.

However, now that the building is so close to being finished, and it can be put to the very practical use of serving as classrooms during the day, we can see no reason why voters would reject a second bond issue.

However, another important thing is necessary if such an issue is to pass. And that is a run down on just how the money has been spent so far for the building. We have urged this time and time again (and it was a mainstay in the platform of one of the successful council candidates.)

Whether it was just bad breaks, or poor management, there is no getting around the fact that the building has proven to be a pretty expensive item. This is no excuse, however, for chopping off the proverbial nose to spite the taxpayer's face.

The building is there, and will do no one any good only half completed. You are paying for it every day by retiring bonds already sold to do the work to date. You might as well be getting something for your money.

We feel that a second bond election is in order for not later than June 3, the date of the national and county primaries. Such an election could be held at a minimum expense to the city and would result in getting a greater number of people out to vote than turn out for the usual special elections. (The lack of interest in the second bond issue, by the way, was one of the principal reasons for its defeat.)

The city council is now seriously considering putting the question on the June 3 ballot.

A "Post Office Southwest Passage" Needed

There is no question that making Mission Circle a one way street was a wise idea, but it is raising havoc with motorists trying to get egress from the new post office.

The post office, located at Bepler and Mission Circle, is in the right spot if you are driving north up Mission Circle. It is a headache if you come off of Mission straight up Bepler. The only way to get back to Mission, in that case, is to make a U turn on Bepler—a dangerous proposition, or go away out of your way down a steep hill to Shakespeare.

There is a simple solution to this. The "street" one block wast of the post office should be improved to allow cars to go south to Vendome and hence east to Mission. Presently this street is no more than a trail full of ruts and holes.

We don't imagine the expense of such a move would be much, especially as it would eliminate the necessity of dangerous U turns on Bepler, and would be a great convenience to motorists.

We respectfully suggest the council look into this and see what can be done.

Polls Closing Time Should Be Extended

We see where County Clerk John Bruning is opposed to extending the voting time in this county past 7 p.m.

Originally, you will remember, the San Mateo Chamber of Commerce suggested that the polls remain open for an extra hour or two. They reasoned this would give commuters plenty of time to cast a ballot. As it is now, many county residents do not get home in time to get to the polls.

Daly City's city council recognized this fact at the last city election. Showing what we believe to be a great deal of common sense, they extended the polls closing time from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m. And while there was no record turn out at the polls, we are certain many votes were cast during this later hour which might never have been recorded.

We can see no reason why the county can not follow suit. Bruning argues that a later hour would work a hardship on those citizens who volunteer to work at the polls. He says one or two more hours of duty would keep many of these workers up to early hours of the morning counting ballots.

No one will question the validity of Bruning's reasoning, nor the concern he feels for those civic minded residents who volunteer to serve.

However, considering how many people work at the polls and the number of residents who are not able to vote because of the early closing hour, we favor the later hour. Certainly this would work a hardship on poll workers, but it is a hardship we are quite certain they would be willing to bear.

And should it come right down to it, these workers could be given a few extra dollars for their work.

Bruning notes, too, that even if the poll closing time was changed this year it would have no affect on the June 3 primary. True, but are we to labor under this early closing forever?

No, Bruning has made a good point; but it is not quite good enough. We still favor extending the closing time of the polls, because we believe one man's vote is worth any hardship at any time.

The Record welcomes any letter on any event of public, or private interest. These letters are published at no expense to the writer. Reader Believes Public Address System In Council Chamber Is Badly Needed

Dear Editor:

Having been a subscriber to THE RECORD for many years, I have noticed your many articles and editorials about the poor attendance at the City Council meetings.

I attended one of these meetings about a year ago, and to date I did not see much change in the meetings.

In the first place, I thought I would sit close so I could hear all that was going on. I can hear just as well as the average person, but still I could only hear parts of what was taking place. It seems to me that the city should install some sort of public address system so that everyone in the hall could hear everything at the meeting and become interested in our civic affairs, and the next time I go, I hope the council talks about something more interesting than the question about a woman falling in a hole and suing the city, and the qualifications for a dog catcher. I hope at the next meeting they talk about something more interesting.

This is all for this week, will try to have a better report next week.

Yours truly,
Mrs. V. Arluck

Red Cross Thanks RECORD For Support Of Activities Throughout Past Year

April 29, 1952

Mr. Harold Bradshaw, Editor
The Record

Dear Mr. Bradshaw:

This letter is to express the sincere thanks of our entire chapter for the outstanding coverage given Red Cross by THE RECORD throughout the past year.

We have had excellent response to our fund appeal, and know that it is due, in a large measure, to the fact that the public has been kept informed of Red Cross activities.

We wish to give special mention to your coverage of Blood Service news. It has been an important factor in procuring blood for our Armed Forces. This is a matter which must be kept constantly before the public.

For your generous donation of newsprint and especially, front page stories, again thanks.

Cordially yours,
Mrs. Charles Grigg

Tax Rate Increase Is Needed Here

The Jefferson elementary school district is asking voters to approve a boost in the tax rate from 93 cents to $1.53 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The election has been set for May 16.

After considering the fact, THE RECORD is prepared to endorse the next tax rate. There is no doubt the school district needs this first tax rate increase in five years, and needs it badly.

There are many factors to consider when casting your ballot on this important measure. All of them seem to favor voting for more money to be used in educating your children. Considering the great increase in enrollment recently, and increase in operating costs—and add to this fact that the tax rate here is much lower than rates in cities of corresponding size throughout the area—it seems evident the tax increase is justified.

Officials in the school district are confident that once the people realize the need for this increase they will go to the polls May 16 and vote, "yes." THE RECORD also is confident.

We raise only one question. How much of the additional funds raised will be used to increase teachers' salaries? Teachers throughout the state are pressing hard at the moment for salary raises. School officials here will not say definitely they intend to raise salaries, but they indicate such action may be taken.

We are definitely opposed to any such increase. Teachers in California now receive higher average wages than teachers in any other state in the United States. A few years ago, when the drive to raise wages for our educators began, it was evident there was a great necessity for such increases. A highly effective publicity campaign on the part of the teachers has worked miracles. It appears to us that teachers now are receiving adequate compensation for their labors.

THE RECORD is not in favor of increasing the salaries of teachers in the Jefferson elementary school district. THE RECORD, however, is in favor of spending more money for maintenance, equipment, library facilities and other items necessary to insure our children a better education.

Vote YES on the tax rate increase on May 16.

PTA Extends Thanks To Record Staff

Dear Sir:

May we of the General Pershing PTA extend our sincere gratitude to you and the editorial staff of THE RECORD for allowing us space in your paper, and to have published news for us.

How else but through THE RECORD could we have kept parents informed of the work that is being done by the PTA in the schools? Our thanks to you and we hope that this cooperation will be extended us in the many years to come.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Joseph Arroyos
Publicity Chairman

McCarthy To Head Taggart Group

Roy W. Seagraves, campaign chairman for Harold F. Taggart, candidate for Congress from San Mateo county, announced today the appointment of Assemblyman Robert I. McCarthy as chairman of the Taggart campaign committee for Hillsborouhg and vicinity.

Robert I. McCarthy, who lives on West Santa Inez avenue in San Mateo, is now serving in the State Legislature, representing the old 25th Assembly District.

In accepting his appointment, Assemblyman Robert I. McCarthy stated:

"I am proud to take an active part in the campaign for the election of Harold F. Taggart to Congress from San Mateo county.

" 'Tag' possesses those fine qaulities of integrity and leadership which are needed in Washington today. His long residence and service in San Mateo county have demonstrated his genuine interest in public affairs and his willingness to give unselfishly of himself in the public interest.

Bill Katz . . . FROM A CORNER

Fearing socialized medicine, doctors are now making a concerted effort to "sell" themselves to the public.

Through a series of advertisements and news stories they are putting over the point that private practice is much more effective and beneficial than any medicine controlled by the government.

Generally, we concur with their conclusion. There is no question that socialized medicine is a bad thing. The government has its bureaucratic hands in enough things without taking to the sick room.

This "selling" job is something new for doctors, and while their prepared copy is excellent, the individual doctors, and especially the hospitals have much to learn as to the meaning of public relations.

Experience

A recent experience with one of these hospitals, leads us to the conclusion that if this country ever has socialized medicine the hospital administrative staffs will have brought it upon themselves.

Any family man is all too well aware of the methods used to collect a bill. Before your wife can enter a hospital she has to assure the staff she is able to pay for the privilege of having a baby. Before you can get her or the child out, a none too diplomatic hospital official has his hand out for the cash or a check.

In an emergency case, there is still someone at the door of the hospital reluctant to allow admittance until the doctor or the patient antes up with a check.

In the recent case, from which this article stems, the nurse was asked: "What do you do if they have no money, and they are dying?" She quite calmly answered: "We don' t have dying people enter here."

That nurse may not be representative of the medical profession, but she is doing her best to encourage socialized medicine.

Cost of Living

As to the fees charged by hospitals, there may be some debate. We do not wish to enter into this, other than to say that the cost of living has gone sky high—literally and figuratively.

There is no question hospitals, in order to function, must have funds. And we do not necessarily believe that the bills should not be collected at the door.

Gripe

No, our gripe is simply a lack of apparent humanity on the part of those who deal with the public. When human lives are involved, this should be the first consideration, not "When, and how much can you pay?"

Note, we do not include doctors in this criticism. We have been fortunate, in that the majority of doctors contacted were more than lenient, and understanding, when it came to pay the bill.

We would advise those who are doing such a good job "selling" the doctors to the public, turn their attention to the hospitals. Too many people are confusing the doctors with an all too often inhuman hospital administrative staff. Too many are wondering that perhaps this crass attitude might be changed had we socialized medicine.

It is about time that hospitals learn the meaning of simple public relations.

Stan Bibbero . . . BIBBERO'S BABBLE

Why does a happy bachelor, accustomed to the free and footloose life, suddenly foresake his hard-won existence, propose like a flustered schoolboy, and suddenly find himself hooked for good?

I don't know why, but sooner or later it happens to the best of them. For years he evades the neatly laid traps, like a wily wolf outsmarting the swarms of hunters. And, believe me, that simile is not at all far-fetched. Nothing outrages an otherwise charming housewife like the sight of a bachelor.

Let the unsuspecting husband bring home an eligible and unwed male, and his wife immediately and automatically reacts like a bull to a red flag. Plans are laid with care. Phones ring busily. A small party is whipped up—with each guest selected with great care.

A short time later the bachelor, who is probably casually throwing the dinner dishes into a dark corner, is invited to a small party—just a few of our friends, you know. Nothing formal.

At this point, if he has been around at all, our hero will become highly suspicious, and with good cause. However, being philosophical about the whole thing, he shrugs it off and accepts.

Sure enough, he finds several "happily married" couples and one single girl. She is to be his partner for the evening. From then on every scrap of conversation is aimed at joining the two in wedlock as of immediately. Marriage is spoken of in glowing terms. The husbands and wives present smile at each other lovingly. They make small jokes. The atmosphere is happy, happy, happy. As a bachelor, he is told indirectly, he is not only shirking his bounden duty as a male, but is a downright schmuck.

Being a man of much experience, our hero manages to ignore the inuendos, and enjoys himself at the party, without endangering his status of single blessedness.

This sort of thing can go on for years, without ill effect, if the man is cautious and wary at all times. The funny thing about it is that the maried men also seem to be trying desperately to end his freedom. There is a not-unjustified thought to the effect that, since they have been trapped themselves, pure jealousy makes them want to double-cross their former drinking buddies.

However, after a couple of drinks in a comfortable bachelor apartment, the harried married man will often slip and reveal his true throughts, which usually run as follows:

"Man, you don't know how lucky you are. For gosh sakes, STAY SINGLE."

But to get back to the original point. Sooner or later, after spending years building up a tight defense against the predatory female animal, the man slips somewhere.

Maybe, in a moment of despondency he will gave wistfully upon the married couple, and think to himself, "Maybe I AM missing something, after all. Maybe there is something to this marriage racket."

This type of thinking is fatal. The bug is planted. The poor guy is cooked. It won't be long before wedding bells ring out. There is no sight sadder than the gay bachelor, who suddenly has decided it's the married life for him. He prances up to the trap and practically pokes his head into the noose, grinning like a first-grade moron.

So the trap is sprung. The comedy is over. The carefree days are through.

And, as always, the final wisdom comes too late. Much, much too late.

Ridgely Cummings . . . HOLLYWOOD

The formula for success in Hollywood might be boiled down to something like this: "Specialize and offer that which can't be duplicated."

An elderly man who is making a better mousetrap, with resulting economic security and considerable prestige among the insiders, crossed my path the other evening. I met him through a friend called Scotty, a writer and former editor of a string of fan magazines. Scotty seems to have plenty of free time and occasionally I meet him on Hollywood boulevard. This particular evening he hailed me.

"Hey, if you're not busy," Scotty said, "I want you to come with me and listen to Erna Sack."

"Okay, I'm just taking a constitutional. But who is Erna Sack?"

"She's a singer, one of the greatest. A friend of mine runs a little music store and he's just acquired a new record of hers. It's a collector's item."

Narrow Shop

Scotty led me to a narrow shop half a block off the Boulevard. The display windows were crammed with exhibits of old sheet music, bearing pictures of by-gone entertainers. As we arrived a small, elderly man was standing outside, locking the front door.

"Are you closing up, Stanley?" Scotty asked.

"Yep, just going to get some coffee. Will you join me?"

Scotty introduced me to Stanley, whose last name turned out to be Bing. We strolled up the side street to the lighted thoroughfare.

"He's got the only store of its kind in Hollywood," Scotty said.

"In the world," Mr. Ring corrected.

"What's so unusual about it?" I inquired.

"All the motion picture studios and radio networks come to me for material," Stanley explained. "When Warner Brothers were making 'I'll See You In My Dreams,' they got 125 different songs from me. They only used about 15 in the picture."

"Did Gus Kahn write 125 songs?"

"More than that, about two thousand. I've got the best collection of popular songs in the world."

"How many have you got?"

"All of them. About a quarter of a million."

"Do you mean 250,000 different songs or that many all together?"

"Different ones. Here's where I usually have coffee." We went in and took a booth. After the waitress left, Stanley Ring continued: "My pop collection takes up about half of the store."

"What's in the other half?"

Classics

"Classics. Opera scores, parts for various vocalists, instrumental scores for string quartets and things like that. Why on Haydn alone I must have 500 different parts for string quartets. Most of my material is out of print."

"Then you probably hate to sell it, if you can't replace it."

"You're right. A lot of it I don't sell. I just rent. When I get down to only three copies of a number left, then it goes on the non-sale list."

"But I suppose you'd sell a copy if you got a premium offer."

"Oh no, not for any price. Otherwise I'd soon be out of business. The librarians around town know they can depend on me. I have to justify their confidence."

"You know, Mr. Ring, I think I detect a story in you and your business. I'd like to do an article about you."

"The story of my place is practically a history of show business. Sid Grauman used to come in every day, before he died. Gilbert Roland buys hundreds of records from me. Jack Mulhall comes in to look at some of the old songs he introduced. Penny Singleton was in the other day. I can help you write the article. I know something about writing myself. I've written four plays, you know."

"No, I didn't know that. Four plays represent a lot of writing."

Too Busy

"Yes, I'm too busy with the

"Yes, I'm too busy with the store to push them right now. All day long my phone is ringing—NBC, CBS, Capitol, M-G-M, everybody wants to ask me questions. When their own libraries don't have it they call me. Better come in the evening. I'll have time to talk to you then."

"Okay, but I'm getting a lot of background material right now."

"You haven't scratched the surface yet. I'll give you some real material when you come in. I have to keep up on the movies and this time of night is my only chance. Be sure to drop in. Good night."

The man who is a walking encyclopedia of music toddled off on his stubby legs to see his movie and listen with a critical ear to the musical score. Scotty and I resumed our walk.

"He's a great little guy," said Scotty. "You ought to follow it up. I can visualize a story for Colliers or the Post."

"Wow, if it's that big I certainly will."

That was last week and I firmly intended to visit Ring's Musical Library the next day. And I'm still going. Probably tomorrow. Or the next day. Or next week at the very lastest. . . .

Annapolis Tests Slated July 14th

Competitive examinations for appointment to the United States Naval Academy will be held on July 14, Congressman Jack Z. Anderson announced today.

The July examinations, conducted by the Civil Service Commission, will determine candidates for appointment to the Academy in 1953, and all applications must be in Anderson's office, Washington, D. C., not later than May 20.

At this time, Anderson said, it appears there will be one vacancy at Annapolis. One principal and three alternates will be appointed for this vacancy on the basis of the competitive examination. No vacancy will occur at the United States Military Academy in 1953.

Age limits for candidates are not less than seventeen years of age and not more than twenty-two years of age on July 1 of the calendar year in which they enter the Academy.

Young men interested in this appointment and who have not already made arrangements to compete, should write immediately to Congressman Jack Z. Anderson, House Office Building, Washington, D. C., for details.

LARGEST TURKEY SHOW

The largest turkey show in the world is held at Oakland in Oregon each year, according to the National Automobile Club.

Big Rose Show Scheduled Sunday At "Roseacre"

"Come to tea Sunday at Roseacre anytime between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m." is the invitation being extended by members of the San Mateo County Rose Society, through their president, Mrs. Florence Cornell, as plans for the May 4th show are rushed to completion.

"Roseacre," the Merrill A. Newman estate at 863 Chiltern Road, Hillsborough, is just what its name implies, an acre of roses. Included in the 3000 bushes is practically every known variety from old-fashioned to the newest "All American" selections.

The show, under the chairmanship of Harry Campbell, will be the sixth annual event of the society whose membership is composed of people throughout all sections of San Mateo county, and is open to anyone in the county who likes to grow roses.

Members compete for the Sweepstakes Trophy, the Joyce LaVurn Newman Memorial Bowl, as well as other cups, medals and certificates. Prizes are won on total points received in the exhibition rose classes.

Honors

The various garden clubs and flower societies of the Peninsula will compete fo rhonors in their class, as well as the San Mateo county florists and nurserymen. Entrance tickets entitle the holder to vote for his favorite Garden Club Arrangement and Florist Arrangement.

The show affords visitors to see not only the cut blooms and rose arrangements entered in various competitions, but also the bushes that grow these same varieties.

The weather has been most favorable to the roses at "Roseacre" this year and the blooms are expected to be at their peak on show day. All rose bushes are labelled individually where they are planted alone, or as a group where they are enmasse. The garden affords visitors an opportunity to observe how the varieties of their choice perform under the weather and soil conditions of San Mateo county.

"Roseacre" contains old fashioned roses and the newest "All American" selections. "Kazanlik" is one of the famous old roses, used in the Balkans for the production of attar of roses.

New Roses

Among the newest roses is "Santa Clara Pink," the spectacular weeper blooming for the first time this year at "Roseacre." The 1952 All American selection "Rose Helen Traubel," a smokey cream rose of unusual form and texture, will undoubtedly attract much attention as will "Climbing Peace" which made its debut last year on the Newman estate. Always an attention getter is "Little Compton Creeper" a ground covering rose.

Mrs. Fred Heckman, tea chairman, announces that sandwiches, cakes, tea and coffee will be served on the terrace overlooking the upper section of the rose garden. Tea is included in the admission cost.

Mrs. Clay Morgan, Ticket Chairman, advises that tickets can be obtained from members of the society, or at the gates of "Roseacre," or by telephoning DI. 4-0348 or FI. 5-1379.

To find "Roseacre" follow markers placed on El Camino Real and Skyline boulevard. Arrows will guide visitors through Hillsborough to the rose show.

Labor Approves School Candidates

Two local residents have been endorsed by the Labor League for Political Education as candidates for school trustee positions May 16.

They include:

Mrs. Stella Jensen for election to the San Mateo Junior college district.

Claude Hanrahan to the Jefferson elementary school board.

The labor league also urged that school elections be consolidated with state-wide elections so as to eliminate duplication of election costs. The resolution noted that a better vote selection would result with this method rather than at a special school election which generally results in a small vote.

Local "Horseless Carriage" Operators May Now Obtain Unusual License Plates

Applications for Horseless Carriage License plates for display on motor vehicles manufactured 35 or more years ago will be accepted by the State Department of Motor Vehicles next week (beginning Monday, April 28, 1952.)

The new plates, which may be used on eligible vehicles in place of the regular licesne plates on payment of an additional $2.00 fee, are red in color, carry in white characters the name of the State, the year, and the legend: "Horseless Carriage No. ——."

Sponsors of the legislation authorizing the issuance of the plates is Senator John F. Thompson, Santa Clara County, author of Senate Bill 620 in the 1951 session of the Legislature. The bill added Section 157.5 to the Vehicle Code, permitting "any owner of a motor vehicle of the age of 35 years or more from the date of manufacture, operated over the highways primarily for the purpose of historical exhibition or other similar purpose" to use such plates in place of the State's regular license plates.

Many Vehicles

The Department of Motor Vehicles reports that there are 417 cars of this vintage registered in the State. They range from an 1898 wagon-wheel Oldsmobile, to a 1905 Maxwell and on to thirty-three 1917 Model T Fords, and include such famous makes as the Rambler, the Rolls Royce, the Marmon, the Kissel Kar, the Stanley Steamer, the Locomobile, and the Pierce Arrow. The group includes eight trucks of such manufacture as Chevrolet, Cadillac, Mack, Fageol, White and Hewitt. The exact number of such antique vehicles in the State is not known, as many may not be registered.

Pointing out that application for such plates is optional, the Department's anouncement recommends that persons who have eligible cars that are already registered should secure the assistance of Motor Vehicle representatives in local offices of the Department in preparing applications on "in lieu plate" application forms. The applications may then be sent directly to Sacramento headquarters of the Department with the $2.00 fee.

Inspection

Vehicles that are not registered must be inspected by Motor Vehicle representatives before registration, and accordingly application in such cases should be made through a local office.

Any 1951 plates, whether tabbed for 1952 registration or not, which have been issued for an eligible vehicle, must be returned to the Department in exchange for Horseless Carriage plates.

The Department announces that registration cards for the vehicles displaying Horseless Carriage plates will be corrected, and potentials for renewal of the registration in subsequent years will be issued as in the case of regular registrations.

In assigning numbers in the new series, the Department announces that all applications received from any point in the State dated Monday, April 28, will be accumulated, and numbers in the Horseless Carriage series will be issued on the basis of a drawing. Thereafter, numbers will be assigned on a "first come, first served" basis.

McGuffin Denies Split Vote Rumor

Lyman E. McGuffin, former San Bruno mayor and city councilman, today denied reports being circulated in north San Mateo county that he entered the first district supervisorial race only to split the vote at the June 3 primary election.

"I have entered this race to win it and have made no deals with either of the other two candidates," McGuffin declared.

"I am seeking this office because I believe I possess the necessary qualifications to give the people of San Mateo county the type of representation on the board of supervisors so vitally needed in this era of skyrocketing government costs and increasing taxation."

McGuffin, a San Bruno real estate broker, was a last-minute entry in the race for the office now held by Thomas L. Hickey who is retiring.

He is opposed by Thomas J. Callan, Colma businessman, and Anthony G. Gaggero, insurance agent.

The denial was issued by McGuffin in the face of growing reports that he had entered the contest for supervisor only to split the vote at the primary election.

County Leaders Support Markovich

Blum Says Markovich Strength Is Growing

Among the impressive list of county leaders who have lined themselves up behind Peter J. Markovich's campaign to become the north county's new assemblyman is City Attorney Frank Blum.

"Support of many of the county's civic leaders is a natural thing from the standpoint of electing a man free to act for all and with the desire to serve the north county," Blum said.

Blum consinued: "Markovich has won the admiration and support of the majority of thinking men to his side. He has done this with a clear cut program and honest answer to any question asked him.

"He has steadfastly refused support from groups that sought to extract promises from him. He has continued to follow the path he believes is for the best interests of the majority.

"The continual growth of Markovich supporters point to the fact that the average resident is finding him the best man for the job," Blum concluded.

Markovich announced this week that he will soon name chairman and committees for his campaign in Daly City.

Property Owners Fight High Taxes

The San Mateo County Property Owners Association, Inc., through its president, M. L. Steinberg, today announced it is spearheading a drive to enlist all organizations to join it in a campaign to keep taxes from being increased.

Steinberg said each large organization in the county will be contacted and apprised of the fact that with the 50 per cent increase in the assessment base, taxes will be automatically increased unless the tax rate is reduced proportionately.

The group was organized last year and, according to Steinberg, now has a membership of more than 1000 property owners.

He also calls on individual taxpayers to join in the forthcoming campaign against increase in the tax structure, and asks those interested to direct inquiries to him at 531 Placitas ave., Atherton.

"Let the Word of Christ dwe'l in you richly." Colossians 3: 16.

A pilot steering a ship on its course must have a chart and a compass. If we are to remain safe on our course to the eternal harbor of God above, we must follow the divine chart and compass. That chart is the Word of Christ. Our compass must be the Holy Spirit.

The chart maps the course of the voyage. If we follows directions, the compass points the way. We are to let the Word of Christ dwell in us richly so that our faith and life will follow the course it plots. This Word is not merely the records of our Redeemer's words spoken while he was with us in the flesh, but that Word includes all of the Holy Scriptures. Let us be eager to reverently hear and read that Word.

To dwell in us richly, the Word of Christ must be lived. It will be a dead letter unless reduced to practice. We must let others see it lived. You may be the only Bibles some men read! Let the Word of Christ dwell in you richly!

Washington

Midway

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clayton and Phyllis and Doyle have made their new home in Monterey, where Clayton has accepted a new position. We are sorry to see them leave, especially Mary Clayton, who was very active in Brownies, PTA and church work, but wish them all luck in their new location.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Butts of Redwood City, and their children, Linda, Larry and Jimmy were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Locke Wednesday. Also present at the dinner party was Mrs. Butt's mother, Mrs. Walter Rombs, who is visiting from Medford, Ore.

We are glad to hear that Henry Huher, formerly of Larchmont drive, is recuperating nicely from a recent appendectomy. Henry and Ann Huher and Jimmy and Jeanie are now living in Redding. Broadmoor certainly made a fine response to the Blood Bank when its unit was here Tuesday.

He called for a teaching of the broader basic skills, mercy, loyalty, and understanding. "America," Dr. Loban said, "will have better schools when families learn to ask for such a program."

Calif. Youth Symphony Seeks Financial Support

On May 12 through May 26 the residents and business men of the Peninsula communities will be given the opportunities to give their financial support to the California Youth Symphony Orchestra.

It is perfectly natural for those who are not acquainted with the California Youth Symphony to ask, "what is the purpose of this organization?" First and foremost, it is a vital contribution to music for the young people of our peninsula. Secondly, a non-profit organization, the success of which depends wholly upon the support of all civic minded individuals, any doubt of which can be erased, due to the inevitable precipitous capabilities of the children in the peninsula communities.

Their attendance and enthusiasm at rehearsals has been inspiring to all of us.

Upon the aforementioned date, representatives from the board of the directors of the California Youth Symphony Organization will contact all business firms, asking for their unlimited support. All mothers can do their part by urging their husbands to support this campaign one hundred percent, for the California Youth Symphony when called upon.

The public is cordially invited to attend all rehearsals on Saturday morning.

Babe Zaharias Puts On Show For Boy's Club

Babe Didrickson Zaharias took time off from the $3,000 Richmond Women's Open golf tournament to drop by Chuck Lewis' Colma Driving Range Saturday and put on an exhibition of plain and fancy pellet-whacking for the benefit of the Broadmoor Policeman's Boys club.

The Babe, consistently named the top woman athlete in the nation, received in return an honorary police chief's badge, and the boys club received $163.20.

Presenting the badge were Judge Thomas Bocci, vice-chairman of the club and candidate for the new Daly City municipal court, and club secretary Paul Schmidt, chief of the Broadmoor Police department.

Chairmanship of the club formerly resided with Chief Schmidt, but he bowed out Saturday when Mrs. Zaharias announced that she would be happy to do a repeat performance, and also would see if a couple of other famous golfers—Bing and Bob, by name—could spare the time to put in an appearance for the benefit of the club's 95 or so small-fry members. The Babe was promptly and unanimously made chairman.

Proceeds of the one hour exhibition, said Schmidt, will go to the club's building fund. The youngsters, he says, are very much in need of a clubhouse at the present time.

Lewis turned the facilities of his driving range over to the organization free of charge, and Bill Gyman, San Francisco TV personality dropped in to MC the affair. Approximately 200 persons turned out on short notice to view Mrs. Zaharias's artistry.

Present financing of the club—which began in 1951—comes from the pockets of the regular officers of the Broadmoor police department and from such organizations as the Broadmoor Home Owners association. The latter group, Schmidt reports, paid $50 not too long ago for a little weed-cleaning operation.

Such money goes into outings for the young clubsters. Thus far, Schmidt reports, they have made trips to Golden Gate Park, TV programs, the circus, the ice follies, the roller derby, local swimming pools, and so forth. This in addition to parties at the station and similar activities.

Under its new chairman, Schmidt sees a rosy future for the club.

Liquor Fees Bring $10,352 Here

Liquor license fee earnings during the six months ended February 29, 1952, reached $5,410,534, according to figures released today by George R. Reilly, First District Member of the State Board of Equalization.

The entire sum was distributed by State Controller Thomas H. Kuchel among the cities and counties of the State a few days ago, bringing the amount paid local governments during the current fiscal year to $8,215,543.

The amount of license fees distributed this fiscal year is $341,140, or 4 per cent, less than that distributed last year. The April distribution, however, consisting mainly of fees for the privilege of selling alcoholic beverages for consumption on the premises, was only one-fifth of one per cent, below last year's April distribution.

San Mateo county and its cities received $141,172 from the present allocation. Daly City shared in the five and a half million pot to the tune of $10,352.

New Psychiatric Service Offered

The county public health division reports that at Community Hospital the psychiatric services formerly limited to alchoholics are now being extended to persons having other psychiatric problems and unable to pay for private care.

Referrals may be made to Miss Winifred Zwemer, the newly employed psychiatric social worker for this adult psychiatric clinic. Miss Zwemer is filling the position formerly occupied by William Linehan.

Miss Zwemer is a graduate of the Smith College school for social work, and has a varied experience in that field.

The clinic is housed in the basement of the Clinic Building at Community Hospital. It is entered from the west side of the building. Miss Zwemer may be reached by Calling Fireside 5-5712, extension 35.

Brown Wins Pebble Beach Net Tourney; L.A. Meet Is Next

Tom Brown brought another net tourney win home to Daly City when he defeated Jerry DeWitt 6-4, 6-4, in the Pebble Beach men's singles last Sunday.

The Daly City lawyer and former Davis Cup player teams with Art Larson—national men's singles champ in 1950—for doubles play in the big Southern California tournament at Los Angeles, which begins this weekend and ends next.

Brown will also be entered in the men's singles department at Los Angeles.

The win over DeWitt, a Modesto lad who is ranked as the second best player in Northern California, brought Brown's total of recently-won local net meet championships to four; he took top spot at La Jolla, Bay Counties, Burlingame, and Pebble Beach.

In the semi-finals at Pebble Beach, Brown downed Gil Shey, of the U. S. Army, 6-3, 6-0.

Doubles play at Pebble Beach found Ralph Gish and Ellis Slack beating Harry Buttimer and Harry Roche for the top spot. Gish and Slack lost to Brown and team mate Harry Likas, Jr., in the Burlingame meet.

Simms Repeats Freak Hit As Sarto AC Wins

Sarto AC—who couldn't persuade their last opponents (San Quentin) to come to Marchbanks field for a re-match—met Marty's at the field last Sunday and came away the victors.

History, or something, repeated itself when Fred Simms came up in the fifth and clobbered a triple that sent two men home. The ball sailed through the club house door in the same manner it did a few weeks ago when Simms slugged a homer against the Regal Pale team.

Starting pitcher for the Sartomen was DeLuzzio, who stuck for three innings. Bill Rainey replaced him for the remainder of the game and Marty's men failed to touch hickory to horsehide from that point on.

Members Of Lions Club Hear Speech

Milton E. Taylor, Montgomery street representative of the New York Stock Exchange, spoke to members of the Daly City Lions Club Wednesday noon. Taylor talked on investment funds, stocks and other aspects of the exchange.

The speaker was introduced by Arnold Panella, program chairman, before 30 members. Two new members were sworn in at the meeting by Stanford Hannah, past president. The new members are Thomas Gilbert, superintendent of the PT&T building in Colma, and Dr. Lee Otis, eye specialist of Daly City.

Seven members of the local club left for Hobergs in Lake County today for a convention of the northern district of the Lions Club. Those attending the meet, which will last through May 4, are Ira Neville, John Radhuber, Hal Willis, George Glasse, Arnold Panella, Gil O'Shaughnessy and Ed Wiesenburger.

Next week's guest speaker will be William Hollingberry, undersheriff of San Francisco county. He will speak on "Crime and Youth."

Club members were slightly amazed to learn Wednesday that five expectant fathers were present. They were Elio Fontana, Rudy Wolmuth, Lloyd Selmi, Pete Markovich and John Karsant.

Sarto Backs Creedon's Bid

James W.McClenahan, general campaign chairman for Judge Daniel J. Creedon, candidate on both Republican and Democratic tickets for election in the June 3rd primaries to the State Assembly from the 25th district, today announced names of chairmen and committees for communities in this district. Members of both political parties are included.

In the Daly City-Colma district Joe Sarto will serve as chairman.

In accepting the post, Sarto said, "I am most enthusiastic about Judge Creedon's campaign. Because he has lived on the peninsula practically all his life and because he has had the political background of experience as a member of the City of San Mateo Planning Commission, San Mateo Councilman, Mayor of that city and judge, he understands peninsula problems and will make an ideal representative for the 25th district in Sacramento."

Sarto will be assisted by Hugh H. Smith Jr., Walter J. McElroy Jr., and Mrs. Aldeni Pucci.

Jeffs Down Lincoln, Burlingame

Not contest with his duties on the mound, Jeff pitcher Joe Lewkowitz stepped up to the plate in the twelfth inning of Friday's Jefferson-Lincoln tilt and rapped out a bases-loaded single to win his own ball game 7-3.

In many respects it was a one-man game, for Lewkowitz had previously doubled and in the second frame slugged himself a four-bagger. He gave up nine hits in the over-time match, passed two on balls, and struck out a round dozen of the Lions.

Played on the San Jose diamond, the game was plagued by rain and the Lincoln high team was plagued by Lewkowitz and the Jeff hitters. At the end of the seventh frame, score was tied up at three all. From then on, the Jeff pitcher threw shutout ball.

Seven of the Jeff nine picked up runs and shortstop Ray Rosa and and centerfielder Mario Leveroni ran Lewkowitz a close second by knocking out two runs apiece.

Jeff total—seven runs for eight hits. Lincoln total—three for nine.

In Tuesday afternoon's game with Burlingame, the locals edged out a 6-5 win and marred their record book with six errors.

Don Delbon led off on the hill and stuck it out for six innings, then Lewkowitz took over and passed the side with two throws—a week bunt and a double play helping matters a lot.

Pitcher Delbon did a little better at the plate than on the mound, his single in the first scored to of the Jeffs total of six.

Many upsets the past week made the outcome of the current PAL race anybody's guess. The Jeffs still look for that third straight championship.

Progressive Strides Made In San Mateo County Blood Bank Donation Program

Progressive strides of the San Mateo County Blood Bank were outlined yesterday at the annual meeting of its officials in San Mateo. Dr. Carl I. Hoag, M.D., was elected president of the bank for the tenth consecutive time. U. S. Simonds Jr., Burlingame city councilman, was re-elected as vice president.

George McQueen, publisher, was elected to the executive committee, replacing Charles C. Sullivan, resigned. Both Mr. Simonds and Mr. McQueen had served as trustees of the bank since its inception.

A. H. Sagehorn, county treasurer, was re-elected to the executive committee, and Attorney Robert A. Tarver, of Burlingame, is the newly elected secretary-treasurer.

In his annual report D. Hoag said, "This bank was born in a period of warfare; functioned and developed throughout the war period, retrenched during six years of peace, then, with the new outbreak of hostilities, again returned to our present war footing."

Report

His report contained the following pertinent facts:

1. During the 12 months ending March 31, a total of 15,330 pints of blood has been drawn, of which amount 6,796 pints went to civilian usage, and 8,534 pints to the Armed Forces.

2. Since the founding of the bank 10 years ago a total of 49,784 pints of blood were drawn from 25,642 individual donors.

3. To date, 228 organizations are enrolled in the bank's group pool, a plan which makes blood available to any member of the organization so enrolled, or available for the family of a member.

4. The vast program of the blood bank is carried on with only six full time paid staff members, 16 on part-time basis, and by 236 volunteer workers. During the past 12 months the volunteers donated 10,707 hours of work, as compared to their 7,020 hours during the previous 12-month period, and a total of 53,516 hours during the 10-year history of the blood bank.

5. The recently concluded building fund-raising campaign brought in $53,531.36 attendant by a promotional charge of $3,969.43, leaving a balance on hand of $49,561.93.

Credits

"The blood bank's plan," said Dr. Hoag, "of permitting an individual to build blood credits against a time of need for self as well as for family members is a new type of health insurance, a type which stimulates individuals to benefit themselves as well as serving others through the bank."

Dr. Hoag likewise stressed the importance of the work by the volunteer staff members, declaring that "some of them have been serving for 10 years. Without the services of the volunteers the blood bank could not function."
